i-life Approach of Spring All Things New

As Spring approaches we ask Him to make all things new, especially the lives of those around us.

Hello! We hope this finds you well this month.

“Therefore, if anyone is in Christ, the new creation has come: The old has gone, the new is here!”
2 Corinthians 5:17

The Spring semester always speeds past here on campus. We're quickly approaching Spring Break and the sending of 3 different missions teams accounting for about 40 students. A group is headed to Haiti to continue the work we started there last year - building a computer lab for a school. Another team is headed to New York to share The Gospel and pray with folks in the streets and subways. The third and final group will be staying in Champaign to work with the poverty stricken areas North of campus.

The Home Fellowship Amy and I help lead has exploded with new students this year. We talked with our co-leaders and we have 8 students that are committed to our community and whom we feel compelled to share the Truth of Jesus with.

We're excited to see God transform the hearts and minds of others and our students through these trips. I hope you'll pray with us for them.

Each year we make an effort to clearly present The Gospel to all our new students regardless of their background. It's part of what we believe it looks like to be faithful missionaries - never assuming someone is a believer unless we've clearly talked about what that means. We hope you'll join with us in praying these 8 would be affirmed in their faith, or would come to know Jesus in a personal way.

As the weather begins to change and we see signs of nature being reborn our focus shifts toward The Gospel all the more. Each year as Spring approaches we make a major push to train our student leaders in sharing The Gospel. We do this through scheduled training times but primarily through bringing them along with us as we share about Jesus with others.

As always, we thank you for your encouragement, support, and partnership in this work. Because of your generosity lives are being transformed and Jesus is being made known here at U of I.

- For the success and safety of the 3 missions teams heading out over Spring Break
- That the hearts and minds of the 8 students we are seeking to share The Gospel with would be receptive.
